Unique opportunity to own a home that was built to comply with safety code for a regulation basement suite. This home has fire rated doors between floors, fire rated drywall on the ceilings and a separate heating system from the main floor and basement. The basement is in floor heat and the main floor is forced air heat. There is separate access if desired with a rear door leading to the basement (and main floor if desired) and a front door which will only access the main floor. What an opportunity for those looking to own their own property while having a large portion of the expense of ownership paid for by a downstairs tenant. This newer home, built in 2014 can also work really well as a single family home if a buyer wanted to buy this home and utilize the entire developed space for their own needs- great flexibility and opportunity in whatever your goals are. This home has 2 bedrooms upstairs and 2 bathrooms up, and 2 bedrooms downstairs with one bathroom in the basement- you will be impressed with how well this home shows. it has been well cared for and represents the best value in a newer home of its kind in Lloydminster.
